DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In claims 1 and 21, "fins having a generally rectangular, washer-shaped cross-section" is not support in the specification.

In claim 8, "fins having a generally rectangular cross-section" is not support in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Middleton et al. (4,251,002). Middleton discloses, in fig. 5, a closure cap comprising a closed wall section 8, two radially projecting, elastic fins having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Poore et al. (4,782,964) in view of Middleton et al.. Poore et al. disclose, in fig. 1, a closure cap for a container comprising a closed wall section 29 having a fin sealing device with two fins 34, 35, a cap body 33, a hinged lid 11, a discharge aperture 15, and a second closed wall section 33 having a thread 26, and a cone-shaped plug (see the free end of the plug 18). The closure cap is made of plastics by molding (see col. 4, lines 5-7 and 20-27).

Poore et al. do not disclose the fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section.

Middleton et al. teach fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the fins in the invention of Poore et al. with fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section, as taught Middleton et al., in order to enhance the sealing of the closure cap.

6. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neiger (5,853,093) in view of Middleton et al..

Neiger discloses, in figs. 2-4, a closure cap for a container comprising a closed wall section 62 having a fin sealing device with two fins, a cap body 22, a hinged lid 24, a discharge aperture (see fig. 2), and a second closed wall section 30 having a thread. The closure cap is made of plastics by molding.

Neiger does not disclose the fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section.

Middleton et al. teach fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the fins in the invention of Neiger with fins being elastic and having a generally rectangular, washed cross-section, as taught Middleton et al., in order to enhance the sealing of the closure cap.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
